Algorithm C1: Synthetic Narratives

A synthetic narrative is constructed as follows. First, compile a large corpus, D , of timelines, encyclopedia entries, journal articles, news reports, websites, and government documents. Next, segment into sentences, $s \in S$, clean, filter, and break into simpler concise sentences, $s^* \in S^$, using a large natural language model, BART (1), fine-tuned on summarization tasks, distilbart-cnn-12-6 (2). Then, calculate semantic similarity between each S^ by embedding them with a different large language model, MPNet (3), fine tuned to identify paraphrasing (4, 5). Next, constructed an undirected weighted graph of pair above 95th percentile cosine similarity and hierarchically cluster them into potential events $e^* \in E^$ (6). The resulting set of E^ are small enough to check by hand, summarize, and place in chronological order. The relevant formulas and algorithm are shown below.

Cosine Similarity

$$\text{cosine similarity} = \frac{a \cdot b}{\|a\| \|b\|} \quad (1)$$

Adjacency Matrix

$$A_{vw} = \begin{cases} 1 & \text{if vertices v and w are connected} \\ 0 & \text{otherwise} \end{cases} \quad (2)$$

Identity Function

$$\delta(i, j) = \begin{cases} 1 & \text{if } i=j \\ 0 & \text{otherwise} \end{cases} \quad (3)$$

Degree of a vertex

$$k_v = \sum_w A_{vw} \quad (4)$$

Modularity - Is the difference between observed within-community edges and average expected edges on a random graph

$$Q = \frac{1}{2m} \sum_{vw} [A_{vw} - \frac{k_v k_w}{2m}] \delta(C_w, C_w) \quad (5)$$

47 The Organization for Security and Co-operation in Europe (OSCE) established a Triilateral Contact Group with Ukraine and Russia in June, initiating a mediation effort between the two sides.
49 The OSCE brokered a ceasefire, the Minsk Protocol, between all sides on 5 September.
50 The ceasefire failed to hold, and the fighting continued largely unabated through 2014, albeit at a lower level than before Minsk I.
51 On 30 October, Russia and Ukraine agreed to a natural gas supply deal.
52 Fighting escalated to pre-Minsk I levels again in January 2015.
53 Pro-Russian rebels took control of the Donetsk airport on 15 January, signaling the full collapse of the Minsk Protocol.
